

Marmaduke

Lyrics & Vocalese to Charlie Parkers 'Marmaduke' by Rose Ellis

In every life you have this certain kind of mood and you know how it goes You're wandering for hours just watching flowers grow
You realise, this must be the life that I lead, but what's in it for me?

So what you gonna do when life's not like before and things that used to matter, don't matter anymore Oh where's that place where the sun is shining every day

Isn't it ironic how a life can change from one day to another I'm seeing everything from a different point of view should've stayed in bed much longer cause today there ain't no way to make the world a brighter and a better place

So what is going on and really what's the use I'm lingering here for hours just reading Marmaduke I'd run away if only I could get my feet to move

(Vocalese starts)

I've got excellent ways to cope with horrible depressions and even stress I can control my blood pressure is how it should be I never had to go to private clinics, still got both kidneys

I never let jealousy I still got friends that ask me how my day has been so why can't I control this crazy vulnerable mood I'm in almost forgot how to swing

I can't take this any longer could somebody take me out of this miserable mood
You can go a long, long way without looking at yourself but one day you'll find that it's all just the perfect script for a cartoon Then you're just like Marmaduke

I will look for secret places find back the stars in my eyes I'll look for a golden rainbow, look for the silver lining that frames the sunny side of life

Get out of this mood, 'cause comic books they always end good ... like Marmaduke.
